Wishing all our KOA members a warm greetings and a very happy new year from the JKOA editorial team. We are delighted to bring you the August-September 2022 issue of KOA Journal. We express a sincere thanks to all our members for their valuable support in submitting scientific articles which made this current issue possible.

This issue brings a refreshing review on the topic which remains a thorn pricking on all our members. Complex Regional Pain Syndrome continues to provoke our imagination and this review comes out with relevant new information on diagnosis and evidence for management. We have a succinct description of a surgical technique on a modified posterior approach to the hip. There are three very interesting case reports which mentions of unique challenges we face in dealing with not so uncommon problems in our practice.

The Editorial team wishes to receive many more articles on the good scientific work being done by our members.

Thanking you all and wishing you a very prosperous New Year 2023.

Sincerely

Dr. Anil K. Bhat
